Join Harry Gualco and Larry Longworth for OTHA's return to the Skeena Salmon Lodge in Northwestern (Terrace) British Columbia. This trip will be targeting silver salmon, steelhead, sockeye salmon and dolly varden. The salmon fishing should be spectacular and the steelhead fishing should be prime. Whether you are a spin or fly fisherman this could be the trip you have dreamed about. Our trip this past September was planned too late for the steelhead and the flyfishing was marginal for the salmon. However, fishing conventionally with spin-n-glos was spectacular. Our best day for 4 anglers was 30 silver salmon either caught and released or harvested. With the reports from friends and clients (view our blog section) the mid-August time frame should just about be perfect! The lodge itself is quite beautiful and the appointments around the property are spectacular. Remember to bring your appetite and be prepared for some fantastic meals. The dinners are gourmet and the desserts whipped up are something to be experienced. Each fishing day you will make your own lunch from a variety of lunch meats, breads, vegetables and cheeses. Take along an apple or orange along with something sweet and you are on your way for a long day on the water. Whether you are a fly, spin fisherman or prefer to fish out of a boat you will have all 3 options. For you saltwater enthusiasts the lodge also has a saltwater vessel which fished halibut, cod and salmon in the bay surrounding Prince Rupert. There is an additional $325 per person per day for this adventure. This is a great value at a great lodge. The package includes all transfers, seven nights accommodations, six days of guided fishing, all meals, care, cleaning, vacuum packing of your catch whether it be steaks, filets or cold smoked salmon. Get on board, you will not be disappointed!
